Our experiences, good and bad, help us to become the people we are. Perhaps it was a special teacher, a first job, or the realization that this wasn't going to last forever. Sometime during our life here at MHS we decided what kind of person we wanted to be.

Everyday at 7:20 we begin what seems an endless day of school. But somehow the week goes quickly and the year even faster than that. On our way up the steps, let's remember to look before we leap, and not forget where we got our footing.

STEPPING STONES

Student life at MHS can be extremely hectic. From sports, to clubs, to jobs, we high school students keep our life jammed with activity. A typical students day starts at 7:20 A.M. We enter the building through the double doors into the foyer where we see our friends, boyfriends, and girlfriends "hanging" on the bright orange railings on the first, second, or third floor. We find ourselves racing to our lockers and making sure we're in class by the bell. In the beginning of the day we have lunch to look forward to, which seems to go by so incredibly fast. Lunch used to be social time, to catch up on the latest gossip, and to flirt with that cute guy/girl you've been eyeing. Now it seems like we have to eat and run. After lunch is over, maybe go hang the railing for a couple more minutes (at least until Mr. Drummy tells us to get to class), and then we have 1:55 to look forward to. When that last bell rings some of us get on the bus and go home, others have sports, meetings, or have to go to work. Day after day we follow this particular schedule which in turn brings us step by step until finally we've reached that last stepping stone.

STEPPING STONES

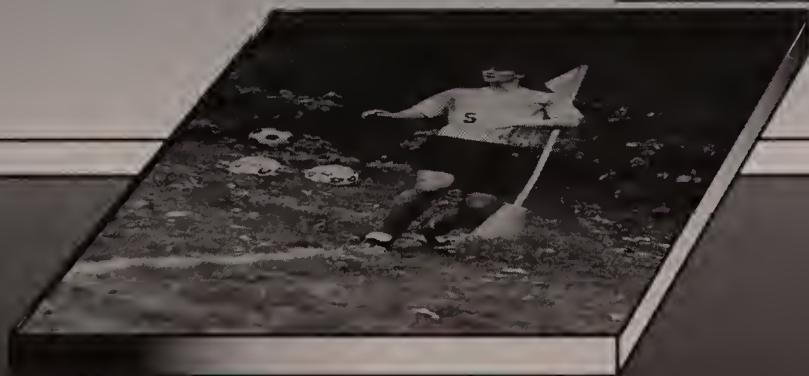

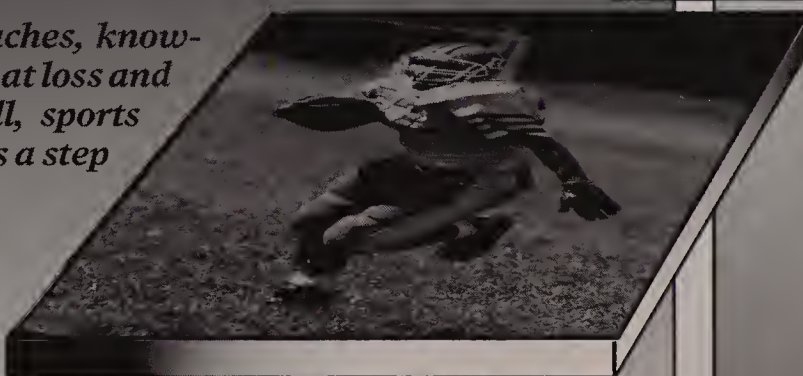

Athletics play a prodigious part in our life. For hours everyday after school, we practice our hardest. Our coaches push us to the max., and we all do our best to keep up.

Some of the strongest bonds can be found in sports teams. Our teammates have to work well together and get along in order to put up a unified front to the competition. Teammates spend good and bad times together.

Our time spent in sports teaches us valuable lessons. Through loss we learn humility and perseverance. Through winning we learn pride and the value of teamwork. Who hasn't had to bite their tongue at an infuriating call or an unfair loss? But in the end there is nothing like the feeling of a good win.

Athletes at Marlborough High School are hard working and determined. We show up at practice, already exhausted from school, and run ourselves to the ground. We listen to screaming coaches, knowing that it is in our best interest. We sigh at loss and cheer when we've won. Through it all, sports teach us to do whatever it takes to put us a step above the rest.

he team gathers together for their ritual cheer and to psyche each other up for the upcoming game.

Cori Mauchan practices her ball coordination and foot skills so she can put the ball in the net.

The girls varsity soccer team exceeded everyone's expectations this year, making it to the district finals. In what was supposed to be a rebuilding year, the team went 17-2-2. The team came together in the beginning of the season. They worked hard and improved progressively throughout the year. There were many highlights of this year such as defeating Wachusett, Shrewsbury and Shepherd Hill twice during the season, which are all regarded as top teams in the state.

The girls soccer team this year was a close group; everyone got along with one another, whether it was the coaches, underclassmen or upperclassmen. Not only was the team successful and hard working, but we had fun. Some of the team's best times were bonding the nights before games at spaghetti suppers or hanging out on 290. The '95 girls varsity team is graduating two seniors this year but they are bound to have an awesome season next year. Thanks to Coach Freeman and the '95 team for an unforgettable season. Good luck next year and keep the tradition alive. We'll miss you seniors!!

Senior captain Brian Ryan and teammates debate on the way to score the next goal.

Goal keeper Zack Tate gets ready for the next penalty kick during daily practice.

"Come on guys, let's win this one," Mike Hayes screams to get his teammates pumped up.

Senior captain Kevin Clancy displays his fancy footwork.

Watch out! Chris Ruest gets ready to slam the ball into the net for the winning goal.

The Boys varsity soccer team has finally taken another league title. The last time this took place was four years ago when seniors, Justin Bilancieri, Kevin Clancy and Scott Medeiros were freshmen. The team this year is, for the most-part, the team that won the state championship on a youth under 12 team. Though we lost Bryan Ryan, a key player, half way through the year, the team had high hopes for this year accomplishing what we did several years back.

Katie Zaleski runs with glee after she scores her first goal of the season.

Karen Zaleski puts on her game face as she is about to conquer her opponents and defend the goal.

The field hockey team had one of its best seasons. This was due to team work and perseverance.

It was a difficult season at first. Everyone had different expectations of each other and our coach. But as the season progressed, the team came together. Whether it was at a team party, at a game, or when we painted the rock before our Holliston game., we joined together.

We had a lot of injuries, but had good players to fill the gaps. A couple of players got pulled from J.V. to play what ended up not just being replacement players, but assets to the team.

It was disappointing not to make it to districts, especially for the seniors. Most of whom had been on varsity since freshman or sophomore year.

In the end, the team finished strong. For an overall record of 7-8-1 and a league record of 7-4-1.

Ed Cordeiro gets ready to hike the football to quarterback T.J. Raeke.

Quarterback T.J. Raeke, hoping for a touchdown pass, looks down the field to throw the ball to one of his teammates.

"Go out for the pass," yells T.J. Raeke to his scattered teammates.

Shane Gilliat, avoiding his oncoming opponents, goes in for the winning touchdown.

Christopher Christo thinks, "Come on coach, can I just play one more quarter?"

Performing their infamous duties as members of the Marlboro High Football team, these men have excelled to become one of the standout teams for the 1995 fall season. Beginning the year as underdogs in their division, the Varsity team did well with the few players they had. About 30 Varsity players, sophomore to senior, began their season in mid-August to prepare for a most difficult season ahead.

The Panthers' Captain, T.J. Raeke, surely was the heart of this team. Through determination and love for the game, he drove his team to have one of its best seasons in years. With other talented and determined players on the team, the Marlboro team received the respect they have deserved for many seasons.

Perhaps the best attribute of this squad is the size of the underclassmen teams. The eighth grade and freshman teams have provided a foundation that will hopefully allow for great seasons to come in the future. The 1995 Marlboro High School Football team, with talent, good coaching, heart and determination had left a mark for many fans to admire for years to come.

Maureen Bonner jumps to spike the ball over the net and score the winning point.

Kate Kelly attempts to save the ball from falling and giving the opponents the point.

"PLEASE, go over," begs player Julie O'Neill.

Nicole Halper signals to her teammates that she's got the ball.

Senior volleyball players, Julie O'Neill, Jen Johnson, Nicole Halper and Kate Kelley, smile pretty for the camera. They have no reason not to smile with their great record this season.

Lauren Washington looks as though she fears the quickly approaching volleyball.

The "orange crush" has done it again. This year we managed to win half our games and make it into tournament play. Many people have asked what it was like after losing players to graduation. It was a noticable thing on the court, but the way that we looked at it, the team that was in there now was more important. Sure, we missed our friends, but the tradition was ours to carry on; we did it to the best of our ability.

The heart that held us together was a strong one, and our "Killer Instinct" was enough to make the other teams know who we were! We rose to every challenge and fought until the end. That is what makes the volleyball team such a special one. We have the ability to persevere and never give up. All the digs, sets and spikes came straight from the heart with a whole lot of guts and determination attached.

This year's team proved that we could make the best of a situation and take it to the top. Best of all, we had a great time together as a team as friends.

*"We can do it; we can win this race."
Katie Kivlighan and Shannon Smith in MHS.*

The girls' cross country team shows their spirit while going for a jog.

Not giving up, sophomore Meghan Doll runs the race of her life.

Hard work, dedication, endurance, stamina, and discipline were all key to the success of the 1995 girls cross-country team. Each individual contributed her own unique personality and style, and when combined created, a diverse and lively team. This combination led to close competition at dual meets.

For a change of pace, the team took a day trip to Vermont to race against other teams around New England. This was the first large meet of the season for the team and proved to be a blast for all who attended.

Losing senior tri-captains Jen Manell, Shannon Smith, and Christina Rigney, coach Riley is left with a growing talent and a promising future with the underclassman.

Ryan Allen and D.C. Laschmitt look psyched up for the run ahead of them.

Marcello Arante focuses only on his running.

The boys cross-country team may have had a shortage of wins this year, but the team had no shortage of heart. We accomplished more than what was expected. An example was our win over North Middlesex. Another goal accomplished was the development of the underclassmen with the help of our coach, and also the high spirited captain, Chris Gamache. Unfortunately I could not contribute as much as I would liked to, due to an injury. I think that if the underclassmen keep up the hard work they have demonstrated all season long, within the next season or two the Marlboro High School boys cross country team will be a threat, if not more, to what seemed to be the better teams to us this year. I want to wish the underclassmen, Chris Gamache, and Coach Rennie the best of luck next year.

The players get an intense pep talk during one of the games.

Jamie Bennett knocks the ball out of her opponent's hand.

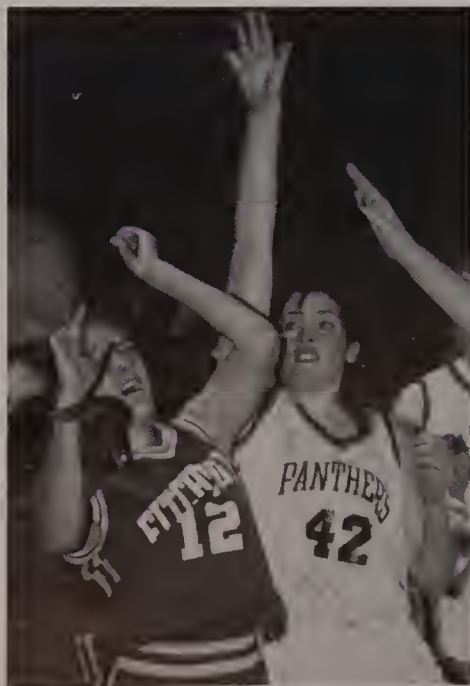

Katie Bauks shoots over the arms of Fitchburg.

Jamie Bennett, Danielle Gregoire and Kara Vonasek listen intently to Coach Turnera.

Jamie Bennett blocks the shot.

From the look of the team's final record, most people who did not see one of our games may think we weren't very good. On the contrary, we had many close and exciting basketball games. Okay, so maybe none of us can dunk, but Lauren Rigney promises that she'll be able to by her senior year. The best games of the season were the second matchup against Westboro and a close last game against Doherty, which went into overtime after an Emily Carbone three-point-at-the-buzzer-shot!

At practice we looked forward to the loved eleven-man-fast-break-no fouls-knock-out-your-opponent-drill or Amy Morrissey's most dreaded drill, the dive-to-get-the-ball-drill (strawberries? What strawberries?) And the best of all, the game of twenty-one. We could rely on Kate "I'm here, but I'm really gone" Papalig to space out at practice or Christine Nawrocki getting Isis Dallis in trouble before every game. We could definitely count on Dani Gregoire calling fouls for the ref, and when the occasion arose that a ref made a bad call, we were able to hear the ref getting a piece of Dani's mind. (Technical? What technical?)

We also had some Divine ice-cream thanks to Father Mike and we all cried as we watched the tape of Stanford's basketball team winning the Final Four. Don't forget Clueless. How many times did we watch that? Over the season, we became very close-knit and we are going to be very successful next season.

Senior Brad Blinderman goes for an insider for 2 points.

This year's basketball team was the best team I ever played for, and I wanted to make this team memorable. We had a great coach and the assistants taught me how to become a leader at the time the team needed me most. I set myself three goals: one was to score 1,000 points, two was to make the districts and the third was to make Marlboro Basketball get some respect especially from the fans and newspapers. The most important thing was we had fun as a team and we made districts. Thank you coach Lambert for never letting go. Good luck next year. Brian and Ryan, it's your team next year!

Junior Scott Cooper looks for an opening to take down his opponent during the Early Bird Tourney.

Dave Coffin can't wait to take down his opponent.

Senior Tim Gardner hesitates to pin his opponent to get some extra back points during the Early Bird Tournament.

This past wrestling season was my most enjoyable ever. We started off short-handed, but our goals were fulfilled. Our team was filled with experience rather than bodies. We had 5 varsity wrestlers return from the previous year - Mike Hayes, Tim Gardner, Dave Coffin, D.C. Lashmit and Greg Margagoni. This year was also the first time Marlboro has had a state champion (D.C. Lashmit). This victory was one of the peaks of this season for the team.

Next year the team won't be losing many people, so they should still be strong. Greg Margagoni and Tim Gardner are the only two who will be leaving this year. These two have been varsity wrestlers for the past 4 years, so they will be missed. However, the team will surely have its share of experience and talent next year and in the years to come.

Sammy Cramer... high above the rest!

Don't worry, she is really a distance runner.

As we can see, Marlboro's Abby Rosenswaike, Mellisa Brogan and Jess Barnes are leading the pack.

Sammy Cramer... "No pictures, please!"

Amanda Laschmidt is off to a running start.

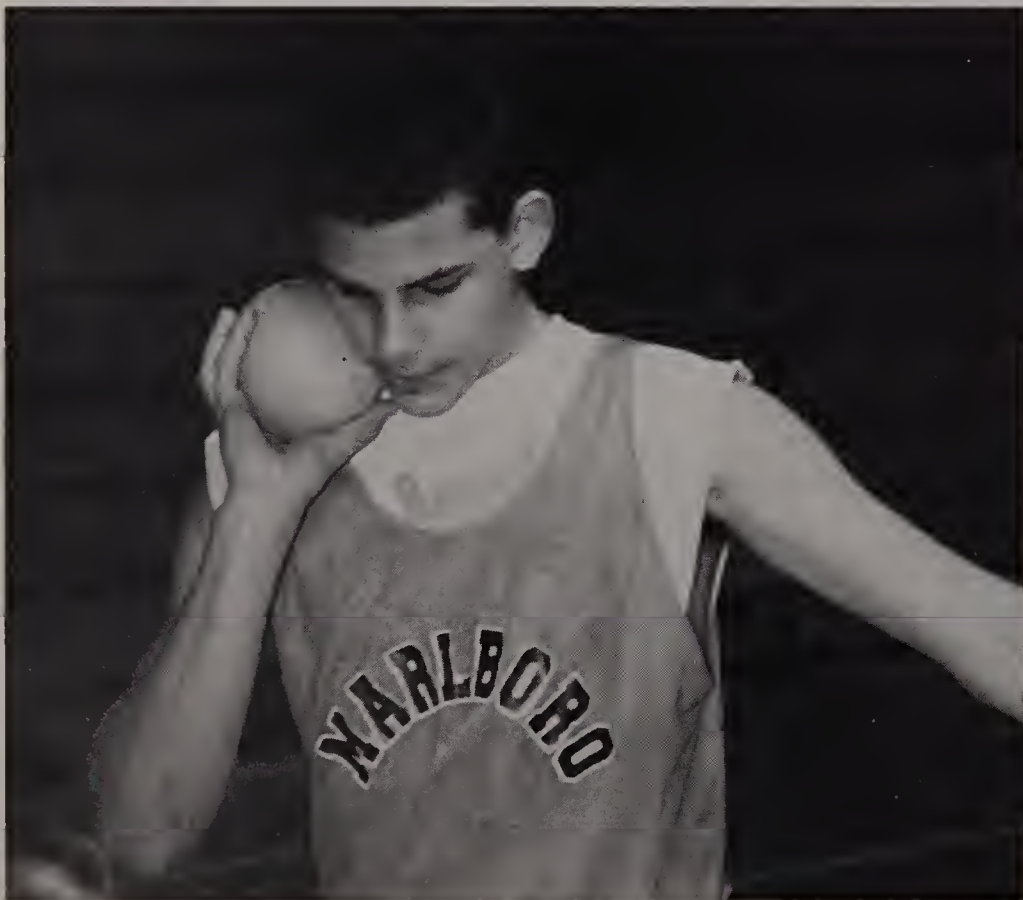

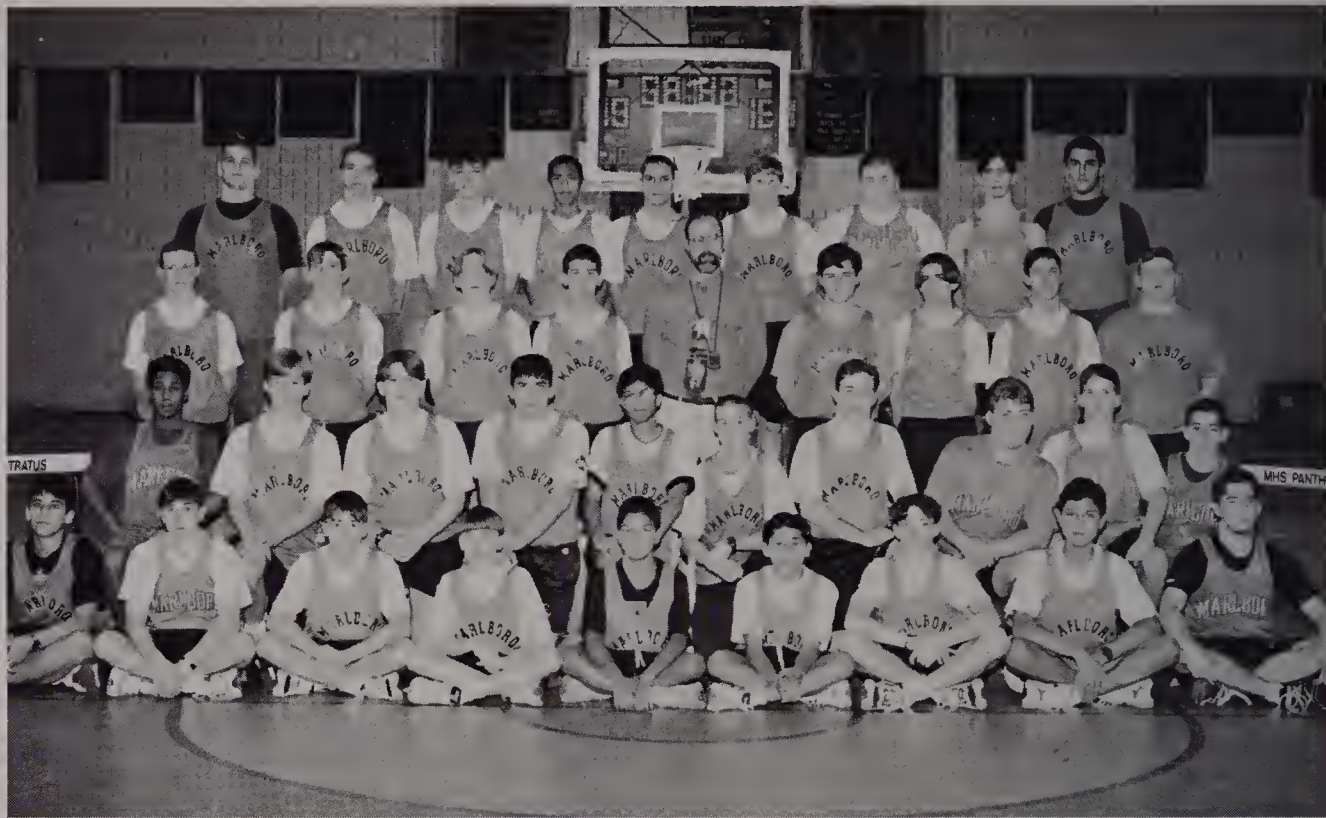

Many newcomers got a taste of what the sport of track & field had to offer this winter. Some stand-out 8th graders include Chandra Willard and Amy Patnode in sprints and hurdles. Jess Barnes and Melissa Brogan improved their times in the distance events. Berrie Foley worked hard every-day in the shot put. These and other young team members will use their experience to run, throw and jump their way to success in future seasons.

Veterans paved the way helping out the new kids as well as first year coaches, Mr. Peterson and Jessie Savage. With the help of outdoor coach Pat Kiley, Sammy Cramer leaped to new heights in the high jump (5'2", to be exact). Some other personal bests made during the season include sophomore Paulina Klocek throwing over 27 feet in the shot and senior Janelle Leroux in the shot. Many people made improvements throughout the season. Hopefully many people learned about the sport of track and field and about themselves as well.

STEPPING STONES

The student body at MHS is filled with a wide variety of people. As you scan the foyer you will see representations of many different cultures. The diversity of Marlborough High School teaches us to respect one another's backgrounds. We are all very different people but the struggle to survive high school unites us.

With the little time between each class we try to congregate at the railing. We talk about the frightening teachers we've encountered or the new friends we've made. You cannot walk 5 feet down the hallway without hearing many interesting conversations.

In high school we make new friends and bond closer with the old. We have new teachers who maybe inspire us. We join and drop organizations. In our years here we decide who we want to be as people.

By Nicole Kattany & Erin O'Brien

PEOPLE

Charleen Sipos

This book is dedicated in the loving memory of Charleen A. Sipos.

Ms. Sipos was a special needs teacher for over twenty years.

Throughout her life and her teaching career, she touched many lives. She was a very caring person who was never too busy to help out a student or fellow co-worker.

Ms. Sipos will live in the hearts of those she touched forever.

SENIOR ADVICE

"Don't like to eat in the cafeteria? Here's something that I've learned to do in my sophomore year in High school. It's called smuggling! You Buy foods like cheeseburgers, doritos or anything that can be easily wrapped in napkins. Then throw it in your bag and head for the hallway. If they ask where you are going, always say either the nurse or the library. If they let you go, go anywhere you can eat without getting in trouble. Just a little something from me to you. Good luck and happy Smuggling! "

-Felicia Mayers

"Cherish every moment; you are going to miss High School severly!"

"To the underclassmen, I wish you the best of luck! Whatever you do, do not procrastinate!"

"Beware of Bethke tests, they can be a brutal loss for you!"

"Don't believe half of what you hear, and question the other half!"

-Sandra Angeló

"How to torment Mr. Fader- steal his ugly purple thing, rearrange the furniture in his room, and plaster Wendy's paraphernalia all over the walls. How to get Mr. Marusa to like you- Show up late for his class and make fun of his socks."

-Kara Vonasek

"If you want to get on Mr. McCaffrey's good side, start off by showing up 1 minute late without a pass, walk behind his desk, stand up and tell him what a great guy he is and nver raise your hand if you want to talk"

-Bryan Urato

"Make sure to take John Fader's calss at least twice, it's well worth the time."

"It's never too late for anything"

"Live all your days to the fullest- these days are priceless and you will miss them. Do not lose sight of tomorrow, but never forget today"

-Jim Valerio

"Never try to save a fallen klok from a tray of photographic chemicals(if the clock is plugged in), it'll be an electrifying experience, if you do."

-Kate Kelley

"For all you people who get your first cars(girls or boys) - take Mr. Hubbard's samll engine tech. or Practical auto mechanics class. He'll fix them for you and you only have to pay for parts. And if your going to do something stupid, whatever it is, Don't get caught !!!"

-Dan Yosca

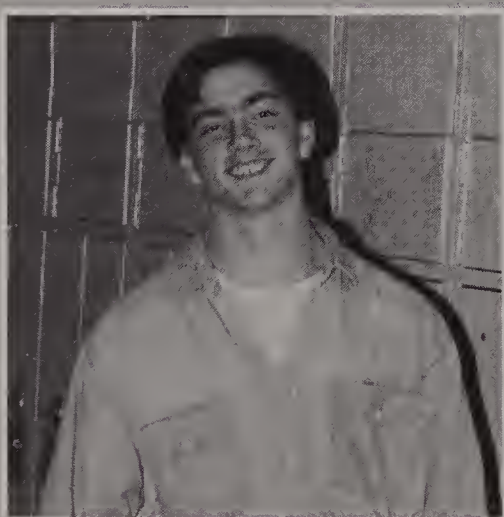

"Do what you like and have fun doing it"

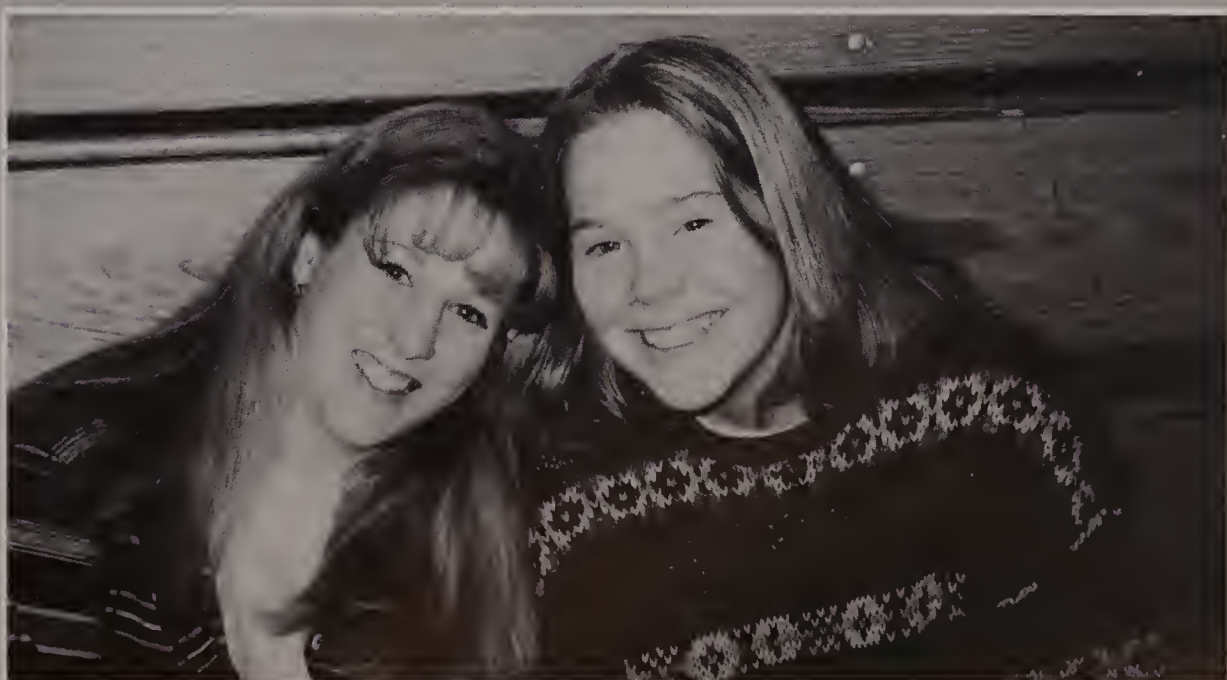

Justin Bilancieri

"Watch out for "Road Dog's" roaming eyes!"

"Your high school experience is short, so live it up and make the most of it"

"Hey underclassmen, all I have to say to you is good luck! These were the best years of my life, so have a great time."

The junior class had a wonderful year. Three of the four officers were not familiar with the job and leadership responsibilities until the school year began. What a wonderful job everyone did working together as leaders.

Throughout the year we had many events such as painting panther paws, crazy events during lunch, decorating the halls, pulling off a great prom, fund-raising events and planning for Senior year and the future. Everyone who helped out to accomplish what needed to be done - Thank you! We did have a blast doing things together.

For all of you who didn't help out this year, get involved next year. We are planning for a senior class trip but the only way it will happen is with your help.

A big thank you goes out to Mr. Rigney for being our advisor and friend. Even though it may have been hard to put up with everyone, he was wonderful at keeping a smile on his face and making sure things got accomplished.

I hope everyone had a great year. Have a safe summer, and let's make next year even better.

April Bernal, Rhea Van Lingen and Kate Charron look astonished as they catch a glimpse of one of the many wacky things that go on at MHS.

Eric Maiuri tries to look candid as the shot is being taken.

Amanda Lashmit is all smiles as she sits in her exciting American Studies class.

Terrance Daniels shows his enthusiasm as he checks out his homework for the day.

Carrie Ormsbee struts her stuff as she passes through the halls

Scott Giroux wonders if exchange student Stephan Olesen's mother ever told him that if he smiled too hard his face would freeze like that!

Throughout this past year, the sophomore class has been busy. We started off the year with the usual duty of school pictures. With the help of our advisor Mrs. Richov, we were able to satisfy the photographers and hopefully most of you! During the months of December and January, we sold candy bars to help fundraise. Also at this time, we began making plans for the Freshman-Sophomore Semi-Formal held on February 2, 1996. Everyone had a great time.

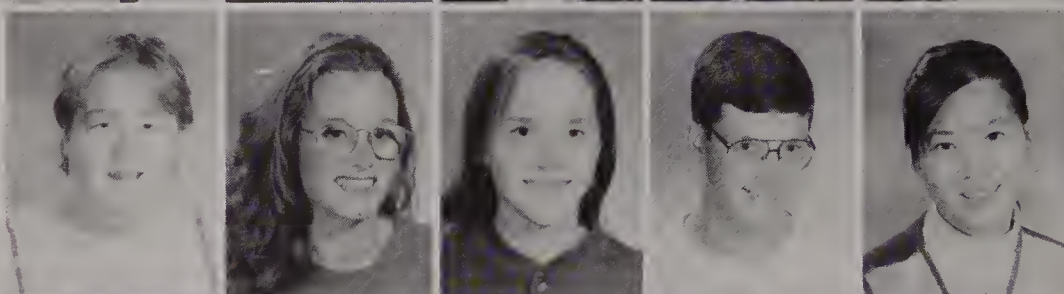

Once the semi-formal was over, things seemed to quiet down for a while. Sophomores planted flowers around the school for the annual "Beautify Marlboro High Day."

This year has flown by. Thanks to everyone for their hard work. See you next year.

Eddie,

You have been thru so much and have had to overcome so much these past years. Now you can start to enjoy life. Don't let anyone get you down. Always remember, we love you and we are proud of you, we know you will have success and joy in the future.

Love Mom, Dad and Susie

Edward Steven Cordeiro

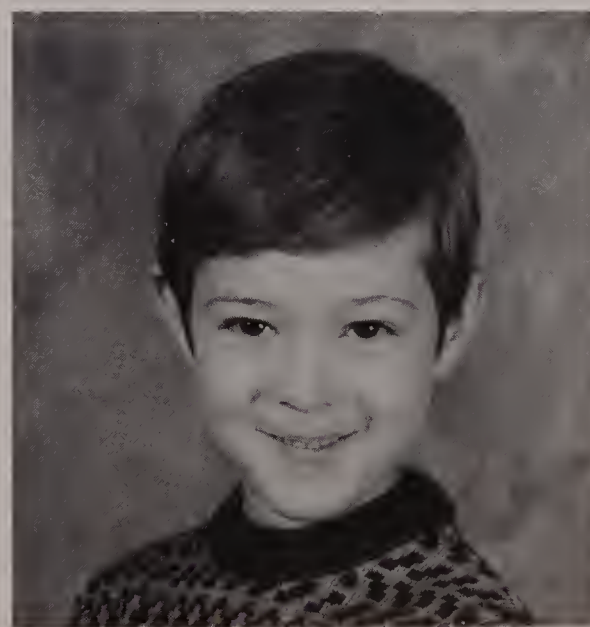

Jim,
It was not all that many years ago that it was Jimmy. Jimmy was sweet, funny and always had a smile for everyone. Jimmy made no great demands on anyone and was happy just to grow and go along at a pace that he felt suited him.

Jimmy got taller, more mature and we felt (and you demanded) that Jim suited you better. As you grew and matured you never lost those things that please us most, but forgive us Jim for feeling that while the world is getting something special...we will miss the time when it was JIMMY.

Love,
